

Nov 26 – Small Group Leader’s Guide:

Read Ephesians 4:1-6, 13

1. What unites Christians together and what divides Christians today?
2. The late Anglican priest, John Stott, illustrated Christian unity as both unbreakable and breakable with the analogy of a broken family that is still united by blood, name, and marriage, but is actually divided because of unforgiveness, irreconcilable differences, greed, etc. In light of this, how are we as Christians to view and navigate our relationship with other Christians in the city and around the world?
3. As a sacrament, baptism makes visible the invisible unity that the Church has in the Holy Spirit. How does your baptism actually show your unity to at least your local church at Little Trinity?
4. Living out your baptism means humility, gentleness, patience, forbearance, and love among our Christian family. How can we foster in ourselves and in our community the faithful expression of baptism that unites us to one another?
